Logic Poor Substitute for Fact Report

The Arkansas Press Association membership bulletin for July 15 quotes the following:

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., says newspapers are a good place to put your money. In a full-page Wall Street Journal ad June 8th the prestigious stock brokerage house says:

"Contrary to what a lot of people think, newspapers are not dead."

"Fact: 12 more dailies were publishing in 1970 than in 1946."

"Fact: Retail advertising in newspapers (the newspaper's bread and butter) is growing at a faster rate than national advertising."

"With today's higher advertising and subscription rates, newspapers should have good news for their shareholders on their 1971 income statements."

Street rumors occasionally give the newspaper business a poor report, but like all street rumors they ride on speculative tongues that have no knowledge of the true facts.

To hear how the wise guys told it, newspapers were all washed up when radio came along. Radio had world-wide news and was free for anyone who owned a receiver.

Then the wise guys encountered television, and reported radio was washed up. Television was not only free but its news was done in pictures—supposedly an all-powerful combination. But things seldom work out the way the sidewalk forecasters prophesy.

In 1971 newspapers are bigger and better than ever.

The radio business is running at record heights.

It is true some of the metropolitan newspapers have less circulation and advertising than they had a decade or two ago. But the suburbs have produced booming new local papers—and so the total for all newspapers is a record high in both circulation and advertising.

Want Records Reopened

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Attorneys for the Continental Oil Co. Tuesday asked the state Public Service Commission to reopen the record on voiding Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.'s industrial contracts so that Arkla officials could be called to present new evidence.

The attorneys said Arkla officials had impeached their testimony before the PSC about the effect of gas curtailments on Arkla's contract to furnish gas to Continental's ammonia plant at Blytheville.

The attorneys, Oscar Fendler of Blytheville, and Tom Burton of Houston, Tex., said evidence presented by Arkla before the Federal Power Commission in Washington last week "impeaches and destroys the credibility of evidence presented by Arkla" before the PSC. The FPC was holding a hearing on Arkla's proposal to ration gas to big industries.

Found Guilty of Murder

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Circuit Court jury deliberated about three hours Tuesday and then found Eddie Lee Williams, 19, of North Little Rock, guilty of second-degree murder in the shooting death of Lucille Custer, 34, also of North Little Rock.

The shooting occurred Feb. 28, 1970 in front of a North Little Rock residence.

Pellets Strike Woman in Cheek

A Sanitation Department worker fired at a stray dog which had been reported to the Department and some pellets from the gun careened into a house next door and hit a woman in the cheek. City Police said.

The incident occurred at 806 Oak Street at the home of Mrs. John W. Cooks who was hit in the cheek. She was treated at a local clinic and released.

10,000 S. Vietnamese in Drive

SAIGON (AP) — With support from U.S. helicopter gunships and B52 bombers, 10,000-man South Vietnamese troops pushed a new operation in Eastern Cambodia today designed to prevent the North Vietnamese from disrupting the National Assembly elections in South Vietnam next month.

The task force encountered no immediate resistance. B52 bombing raids preceded the drive.

The commander of the operation, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, said he hoped to smash the North Vietnamese 7th Division, numbering about 4,000 men, which has long operated across the border from South Vietnam's Tay Ninh Province.

Astronauts to Receive Physicals

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 15 astronauts receive their final major physical examination today as police and civic officials prepare to handle the crush of more than one million visitors expected for Monday's moon launching.

David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden planned several hours with space agency doctors, who will determine their fitness for flight and gather medical data for in-flight and postflight comparison.

Exams on June 25 and July 12 found all three astronauts in excellent health.

Since July 6, they have been in medical isolation, which restricts them generally to three areas of the Kennedy Space Center—their crew quarters, the training building and the launch pad.

Only 102 persons here are authorized to work directly with them. All, including the astronauts, were immunized against nine common diseases.

The preflight isolation was instituted after exposure to measles forced a switch of one crew man the day before the Apollo 13 launch last year.

Following the physicals, Scott, Irwin and Worden planned to practice abort procedures in spacecraft simulators.

Mills-Nixon Relations at Breaking Point Over Role in Shoe Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Relations appear at the breaking point between President Nixon and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, who holds a big congressional club over top-priority administration legislation.

The tension over policy is having a side effect on efforts by some of Mills' colleagues to push him as a serious candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. The Arkansas congressman no longer automatically brushes aside suggestions

Sentenced for Cruelty to Recruits

By LEE MARGULIES
Associated Press Writer
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A sergeant has been sentenced to two years' imprisonment after pleading guilty to charges of cruelty, maltreatment and "indecent, lewd and lascivious" acts while a drill instructor at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot here.

Sgt. Terrance Joseph Elbert, 22, entered his plea at a general court-martial July 13.

The Marine Corps disclosed information about the case Tuesday when asked by The Associated Press. The base public information officer said it is a Marine Corps policy not to volunteer information on accused persons.

Members of the platoon that Elbert commanded lodged accusations against the sergeant Jan. 13. The recruits, all under 21 years old, were not identified, and a Marine spokesman said none left the service as a result of the charges.

Among 38 acts Elbert was charged with committing between Dec. 18, 1970, and Jan. 12, 1971, were hitting recruits, choking them, forcing their heads into a urinal and ordering them to perform indecent acts. Half of the 38 specifications were under the military charge of wrongfully committing "a lewd and lascivious act."

The charges say some of the acts involved the entire platoon, which number 62 recruits at its largest. Two other non-commissioned officers in charge of the platoon with Elbert said they knew nothing of the acts. They were not charged.

Elbert, of Elyria, Ohio, became a drill instructor in October 1969 after service in Vietnam where he won the Bronze Star for valor.

Marine spokesmen said he was relieved of command of the platoon the day the recruits lodged their complaints.

A long period of Nixon-Mills strain culminated Tuesday in a public put-down of Mills' role in arranging voluntary limitation of Italian shoe imports. It was delivered to newsmen by Nixon's international policy assistant, Peter G. Peterson.

A coldly furious Mills telephoned Peterson his opinion of that statement, then told newsmen: "It seems evident the White House is not interested in me cooperating."

As chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Mills presides over all trade legislation. Also in his jurisdiction is revenue sharing—and he has already pronounced Nixon's version of that proposal dead. An administration proposal for a national health plan will come before the committee later, along with alternatives.

In a more cordial atmosphere earlier this year, Mills steered House passage of a welfare-reform bill tailored largely to Nixon's specifications, and the White House lavished praise on him. But the program faces probable rewriting in the Senate—and Mills will lead the House contingent in the conference to determine the final shape of the bill.

Within the past few days, Mills challenged Nixon to reverse present policy and back wage-price guidelines as a condition for an economy-stimulating tax cut.

So the stage is amply furnished for a full-dress confrontation between the Republican President and one of Congress' most powerful Democrats.

The breakdown in communications between the White House and the Victorian Ways and Means conference room began with a falling-out over legislation sought by the administration to set import quotas on textiles. Mills used private contacts to arrange a voluntary limitation with the Japanese textile industry.

The administration reacted with irritation and criticism of the limitation as inadequate.

The spotlight now has shifted to shoe imports. Again, a voluntary agreement was reached, this time with Italy, and stories appeared crediting Mills for the feat. That produced Tuesday's blowoff.

Peterson volunteered to reporters at the White House:

"Like several in and out of government, he (Mills) indicated having heard that the Italian government might be agreeable to some discussion of this problem."

"Beyond that, we are not aware of anything else that Mr. Mills has done..."

Vaccine Arrives in State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas' supply of vaccine against Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis arrived in the state Tuesday night, setting the stage for an inoculation program later this week.

About 100,000 doses of the vaccine arrived with a courier on a commercial airline flight. The experimental vaccine will be used on Arkansas' estimate 88,000 horses in an attempt to protect them from the sleeping sickness often fatal to equines.

The serum was developed by the Defense Department to protect humans from the flu-type symptoms caused by the disease, commonly called VEE.

The vaccine was packed with dry ice in 16 cartons listed as excess baggage of the courier, Ivy Davenport, an employee of the U.S. Department of Agriculture office in Little Rock.

The disease has developed into a serious outbreak in Texas. Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin has placed Texas, plus the bordering states of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico under quarantine.

Corn Blight Reported in Hempstead

Most Southwest Arkansas crops were being hurt last week due to a shortage of moisture. In most areas, hay was short and some cattlemen were beginning to move their cattle out.

In a series of special crop reports, Agricultural Extension Service agents in the area made the following observations:

The harvest of mid-season peach varieties was continuing in Howard County. Pastures are below average but cattle were holding their condition on most farms.

In Miller County, soil moisture was very short. Numerous plant bugs, along with some weevils and boll worms, were reported on cotton.

Cotton growth was slowed by dry weather in Lafayette County. Very little more hay can be produced until they get rain.

Dry weather was also hurting soybeans in Pike County. All crops need moisture. Cattle were being fed supplemental rations of hay and grain with some cattlemen selling their animals due to the extreme drought. There are no prospects for hay in the south and west parts of the county.

Southern Corn Leaf Blight was reported in Hempstead County. They, too, reported moisture extremely short with all hay in very short supply.

Postal Pay Hikes Up to $1,700

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postal Union leaders have signed their first agreement with the new U.S. Postal Service, a $1-billion contract carrying more than $1,700 in pay increases for the average employee over the next two years.

Meanwhile, the United Steelworkers of America ordered locals to conduct strike-authorizations elections. The first to do so, Local 2633 in Johnstown, Pa., approved a walkout. The union has told the nine major producers it will not extend the present contract beyond the 12:01 a.m. Aug. 1 expiration date.

Railroad and United Transportation Union negotiators kept at their bargaining trying to end a dispute largely over work rules. The UTU strike against the Southern and Union Pacific roads went into a sixth day, and a strike deadline still stands Saturday for nine other railroads.

Bel system telephone workers came back to work as they moved into the long mail ratification process. In New York, 26 local leaders voted not to return, having voiced dissatisfaction with vacation and pension provisions of the tentative agreement. In Phoenix, Ariz., more than 1,000 members of Local 8519 said they would stay off the job until the contract is ratified.

Asst. Labor Secretary W.J. Usery Jr., mediator in the six months of postal bargaining, said leaders of the seven unions, representing 650,000 employees, got job protection—no layoffs—in exchange for the management option to implement any technological improvements to make the Postal Service more efficient.

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP)—A ribbon-cutting ceremony was held here Tuesday to mark the merger of Arkansas A&M with the University of Arkansas.

The new UA branch, called the University of Arkansas at Monticello, expects an enrollment of more than 2,000 for the fall semester. Dr. David Mullins, UA president, and Dr. Claude Babin, president of A&M who became chancellor of the Monticello school when it was merged, were among those present for the ceremony.

Administration Says No Agreements Made in Advance of China Visit

Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said after the White House meeting Tuesday, "They made it clear there were no agreements or concessions of any type."

VA Loyalty Issue Held Invalid

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)

Two loyalty questions on the federal Veterans Administration job application form have been ruled unconstitutional by a federal judge.

U.S. District Court Judge Miles Lord said Tuesday the government could not force an individual applying for a "non-sensitive" job to answer questions whether he was a past or present member of the Communist party or a subversive organization.

Lord said the Fifth Amendment protects a citizen from being forced to reveal information that might indicate he has participated in unlawful activities.

The ruling came in the case of Dr. Stephen Zuckerman who, after serving two months of a three-month residency at the VA hospital in Minneapolis, was dismissed in February 1970 when it was discovered he had not answered the two questions.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Stephen Palmer said the Justice Department might appeal the ruling. If upheld, it could force federal, state and other governmental units to alter similar application forms.

The two questions are not the same as a loyalty oath, but failure to answer them or to admit membership in a Communist or subversive group probably would prevent an individual from getting a job, the judge said.

Zuckerman, 30, said the ruling was "a just decision" and he had fully expected it.

Gas Cutback May Bring Electric Hike

By JIM McCALL

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A large number of Arkansas residents probably will be faced with higher electric bills if Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. continues its curtailment of gas deliveries to electric power companies.

Arkla has already begun curtailing gas to electric companies and other industries and unless new gas reserves are obtained, Arkla officials say some industrial customers can expect a 40 per cent curtailment of natural gas during the 1971-72 fiscal year.

Gaston V. Jones Jr. of Shreveport, La., vice president and chief engineer for Arkla, said last week that the situation will continue to worsen until a new gas supply is obtained. Arkla currently has an application pending before the Federal Power Commission to construct a pipeline to the Anadarko Basin in Texas and Oklahoma.

Jones said, however, that gas from that basin would not be available to Arkla until 1973.

Jones said that electric companies were among the first industries to have their gas supplies curtailed because they have an alternate fuel that can be used to power steam-operated electric generating plants.

The electric companies contend, however, that conversion to another fuel—in most cases fuel oil—costs about 2½ times as much as natural gas.

J. D. Phillips, vice president and chief engineer for Arkansas Power & Light Co., said Arkla currently was curtailing gas deliveries to AP&L by 30 per cent.

Phillips said AP&L, which uses about 90 billion cubic feet of gas each year, was buying power from other companies and burning fuel oil to offset the loss of gas.

He said AP&L had no plan at present to raise electric bills because of increased generating costs, but added that if Arkla increased its curtailment, "it is highly unlikely that we will absorb all of the additional cost" of converting to fuel oil.

Phillips said AP&L's contracts with industrial and residential customers contained a "fuel adjustment clause" which allowed the utility to increase the cost of electricity in line with rising fuel prices.

Marion Ulmer of City Water & Light Co. at Jonesboro said he does not see how power companies can keep from raising electric bills if the gas curtailment continues.

Ulmer said Arkla also was curtailing City Water & Light's gas supply by about 30 per cent. He said the firm was using fuel oil to make up for the loss of gas.

City Water & Light's industrial contracts contain a fuel adjustment clause, but the residential contracts do not, Ulmer said.

"There will just have to be some sort of adjustment on the electric bills if this continues," Ulmer said. "Burning fuel oil costs more than twice as much as natural gas."

Other electric companies in the state affected by the curtailment are Arkansas Electric Cooperative Corp. and the Southwestern Power Administration. Gas deliveries to both firms also have been curtailed by about 30 per cent, spokesmen said.

Resistance to Phone Settlement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Scattered resistance to a proposed contract between the Bell Telephone System and the Communications Workers of America continued today but most of the country's telephone workers returned to their jobs.

Most of New York State's 42,000 striking CWA workers stayed away from their jobs, honoring a decision by their 26 local union presidents. Picketing continued in company facilities.

Pickets in Akron, Ohio, Denver, Colo., Arizona, New Mexico and Wyoming early this morning defied a back-to-work order by Joseph A. Beirne, international president of the CWA.

Elsewhere the nation, however, telephone company and union spokesmen reported that most employees were back on the job.

Several local union spokesmen said picketing would continue until voting on the proposed new three-year contract had been completed.

Bierne said the secret balloting of the rank and file will take about two weeks. If they reject the proposal, a new strike will begin Aug. 19, he said.

The package includes a 3 1/2 per cent boost in wages and benefits estimated to cost $4 billion. Top pay for senior operators and craftsmen in the old contract was $118 and $193.

Marine Drill Instructor Is Fined

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — A Marine drill instructor who had recruits doing push-ups for so long they became ill has been fined $100 and reassigned.

A Marine Corps spokesman said Tuesday that S. Sgt. W.L. Sutton, 28, of Vigo, Ind., received the nonjudicial punishment and two other drill instructors were returned to training duties following an investigation.

Regulations limit periods for push-ups to five minutes. The recruits said they were ordered to do the exercises for 15-minute periods on July 2. The next day, 39 were admitted to the hospital with a kidney ailment called rhabdomyolysis, or athlete's kidney, which results when a person does more upper body exercises than he is accustomed to.

All but one have been released from the hospital.

Liquor Prices Cut by Some Retailers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The price of liquor has begun to drop in Little Rock as at least three retail liquor dealers here lowered their prices 10 per cent across the board Tuesday.

Under the old "fair trade" liquor law that expired at midnight Sunday, liquor was required to be marked up 30 per cent and wine 50 per cent at the retail level.

The law knocking down the "price-fixing" statute was one of dozens of new laws passed by the 1971 legislature that went into effect Monday. Included was a law that extended the 3 per cent sales tax to services, such as automobile repairs.

State Rep. David R. Kane of Little Rock, sponsor of the fair-trade repealer, said Tuesday he would promote a taxpayers' suit if there was continued "fixing" of prices on alcoholic beverages.

Kane said he was "deeply concerned about the comments of the operators and towners of some of the liquor stores regarding the continued fixing of prices on alcoholic beverages."

If that continues at wholesale or retail levels, Kane said, "I will ask the Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission to do a random sampling of wholesale and retail prices throughout Arkansas. I will then ask the attorney general to take this evidence of price-fixing and file a taxpayers' suit on behalf of the people of the state of Arkansas."

Hope Group Going to Scout Ranch

Hope Boy Scouts and Explorers are now making preparations for a high-adventure trip to the mountains of Philmont Scout Ranch and Explorer Base in northeastern New Mexico.

The expedition, representing the Caddo Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, will consist of ten boys and one leader. Local adult leader is Olen Overturn, 1215 So. Main St., Hope, Ark.

Leaving July 28, the group will travel to Philmont by chartered bus. Enroute to the 214-square-mile ranch, the boys will visit Kit Carson Museum, Villa Philmonte, Mining Museums, Taus-Trip, Ernest Thompson Seton Library, and Museum, etc.

Arriving at the ranch, the expedition will meet their ranger who will lead and train them on the trails for the first three days of their 10-day wilderness trek.

On the Philmont trails the Scouts will participate in various programs offered in many mountain camps by more than 400 trained staff members. These programs include earth science, gold panning, rock climbing, archaeological study and digging, burro packing and horseback riding.

Clear Skies for State Thursday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Clear skies and warm temperatures are forecast for Arkansas through Thursday, with a slight increase in cloudiness Thursday. Night-time temperatures should again fall to the upper 50s to 60s.

The extended forecast calls for widely scattered thunder-showers Friday and Saturday with fair skies returning Sunday.

Near record low temperatures were recorded in many areas of the state this morning as a cold air mass was positioned over central Arkansas. Calico Rock reported the lowest with 50 degrees.

The cold front that passed through the state Monday and Tuesday is now a stationary front to the south of Louisiana.

Overnight lows around the state included Fayetteville 52, Harrison 56, Jonesboro 60, Pine Bluff 61, Texarkana 65, El Dorado 62, Memphis 62, Little Rock 62 and Fort Smith 60.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 7 a.m. today include .04 of an inch at Little Rock and .01 at Pine Bluff.

Old China Lobby, Once a Force in Shaping Policy, Now Stunned

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The China Lobby has the appearance of the Penn Central Railroad—it's large, still running but in serious trouble. And as many of the rail giant's problems stem from its friends, in the form of past management, so the lobby's troubles result, in part, from one of its old friends, Richard Nixon.

The lobby, once a force in shaping U.S.-China policy and now welded into an organization called The Committee of One Million, was stunned last Thursday to hear its former ally had accepted an invitation to visit the Communist-governed mainland.

Although he speaks optimistically about his organization's goal, to keep the Peking government out of the United Nations, committee Secretary Lee Edwards acknowledges President Nixon's latest move didn't please him.

"We are a single-purpose organization," Edwards said in an interview, and the President's trip "means we have reached a critical point."

If the lobby loses its fight to keep Peking out of the United Nations, and there are expectations within the administration as well as by many diplomats here it will lose, the defeat will end a fight dating to World War II.

At one time the lobby included in its informal membership some of the biggest names in American politics and society: senators, congressmen, publishers, writers and such public figures as Anna Chennault, widow of the World War II Air Corps withdrawal of U.S. forces from Indochina must take priority over moves to improve Chinese-American relations.

The newspaper said Chou told 15 American graduate students visiting Peking the greatest cry of public opinion in the United States and elsewhere is for American withdrawal from Vietnam.

"It might also be said," he continued, "that this demand is even stronger than the demand to restore the relations between the Chinese and American peoples, because the people of the United States do not want to sacrifice the lives of American people in this dirty war. Isn't this so? Therefore, we believe the question to be solved first should be the question of Indochina..."

Chou said by withdrawal he means removal of all military forces and installations.

In another development, Secretary of State William P. Rogers talked with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin about Nixon's visit.

The State Department said that Dobrynin had an appointment earlier with Asst. Secretary of State Samuel De Palma regarding the United Nations, and Rogers asked Dobrynin to stop by his office afterward.

The visit to Peking was hailed both by Vatican radio and President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines.

the enemy from sabotaging the elections," said Minh. "We must provide security for the election campaign."

The legislative elections are scheduled Aug. 29 and the presidential election Oct. 3.

Minh said his forces are operating about 20 miles inside Cambodia and 10 miles north of Highway 7, between the towns of Krek and Mimot and northward.

Minh said the 10,000 troops involved in the operation were already positioned at bases inside Cambodia, but he sent in a 200-vehicle armored column to reinforce them.

Associated Press Correspondent George Esper reported from the front that Minh also was saturating the area with fire from 66 artillery pieces, including 105mm and 155mm guns.

It is the largest operation launched by Minh since he took command last February of the 3rd Military Region, the 11 provinces around Saigon. He had been criticized recently for allowing the North Vietnamese to push his troops into a defensive posture along Highway 7.

hero. One of its supporters was Richard Nixon as congressman, senator and vice president.

Even now the Committee of One Million counts several current senators and representatives among its sponsors and the name is an accurate reflection at least of its numerical strength.

The China issue, Edwards said, just wasn't in the news, until last November. "That was when the United Nations gave its first majority to seating Red China," he explained. "Since then we have stepped up our activity to exceed any in the past several years."

Nixon's trip "makes us more determined than ever" to rouse the public and Congress against seating Peking in the U.N.

This determined effort appears to involve a change in tactics from the days when Mrs. Chennault, publisher Henry Luce, former Senate Republican Leader William Knowland and other celebrities carried the cause against the Chinese Communists.

The emphasis now, Edwards indicates, is on the unglamorous, day-to-day work of obtaining petition signatures, mailing pamphlets and building contacts.

Old friends and still sought out—the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars—as are newer allies, for the fight against any policy to abandon the National government on Taiwan and give a U.N. seat to Peking.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A $4-million spraying program to combat mosquitoes carrying Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis—VEE—proceeded today in Texas while veterinarians in four other states started receiving vaccine to stop the disease.

Air Force planes operating from Ellington Air Force Base here were assigned to spray in the early morning hours in Chambers County, east of Houston, and Matagorda County on the middle Texas coast.

VEE vaccine was arriving in Louisiana, Arkansas, New Mexico and Oklahoma as the inoculation of horses in Texas went into high gear.

The disease, which crept into the United States from Mexico, is fatal 50 to 80 per cent of the time in horses and causes a flu-like illness in human beings.

Dr. R. E. Omohundro, who heads a U.S. Department of Agriculture task force assembled in Houston to fight the epidemic, said that so far, Texas has the only confirmed cases of VEE.

Riley Speaks on College Degrees

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Lt. Gov. Bob Riley says college degrees are not necessarily a good measure of a college instructor's ability.

Riley, speaking at Philander Smith College here, said reform of the system was needed but that too often educators would not make any reform efforts because of fear of distortion by the news media.

being conserved to avoid a fuel shortage during the winter months. They say that construction of the Anadarko pipeline would help ease the situation considerably.

Another problem, Arkla officials say, is that some industrial customers are now buying gas from the utility at a price below Arkla's replacement cost.

The state Public Service Commission has under advisement a request by Arkla that its contracts with industrial customers for delivery of natural gas be voided so rates can be raised. Arkla officials say the money from an industrial rate increase would help finance the Anadarko pipeline.

W. R. "Witt" Stephens, president of Arkla, said Tuesday that he had "no idea" of how much the industrial rates would be raised if the PSC says the long-term contracts can be voided.

"One thing that's pretty sure, though, is we don't plan to ask for any kind of rate increase for our residential customers," Stephens said. "They are paying enough now."

Stephens said the amount of increase Arkla would receive on its industrial rates was up to the PSC.

Public Service Commissioner Robert D. Downie said that a study was being made to see how much of an increase would be fair. He did not indicate when a ruling would be made.

Cabbage Is 'Panned' as Vegetable

THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE

Need a spacious three-bedroom house? This house plan was designed to meet the needs of modern living.

A large formal living-dining area is provided with an entry immediately off the front foyer. The formal dining area is adjacent to the kitchen, and is serviced from a parallel kitchen through the sliding door. The parallel kitchen provides ample space for meal preparation with spacious counters and overhead cabinets. The bar which separates the family living area from the kitchen incorporates under counter storage as well as suspended storage cabinets from the ceiling.

The family area is conveniently located so that it is accessible from the front foyer, sleeping area and provides an outside entrance from the carport. The wall between the utility room and family area includes bookshelves which open into the family area and a utility closet which opens into the utility room. The utility room provides ample space for washer, dryer and hand sink with counter space adjacent to the sink. Overhead storage cabinets are provided above the washer and dryer. An outside entrance is provided to make this utility area convenient to the back yard.

Each of the spacious bedrooms provide ample clothes closet space.

Both bathrooms are compartmented for convenience and utilization. Dressing rooms are provided adjacent to each of the baths.

Working drawings of this plan can be obtained from the Hempstead County Agricultural Extension Office, free of charge, by requesting a copy of Plan No. 667601.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

"MALE CHAUVINIST" EDITOR STRIKES BACK

Dear Helen:
May a male editor present a rebuttal to the female editor (society pages) who took another male to task for his "chauvinism"? The lady claimed hubby showed emotional infantilism and lack of interest in her as a person by complaining when his wife covered her legs with pantsuits.

I claim this shows a definite lack of awareness of any emotion between males and females. The husband's appreciation for his wife's legs surely wasn't the only thing he appreciated about her. Otherwise it wouldn't be a marriage any longer, and they would have gone their separate ways. He obviously likes her companionship, probably her brains, her ability to do various and many things—even including the way she looks in pantsuits.

But when something is beautiful, it seems criminal to cover it. No one would appreciate putting linoleum over terrazzo tile, or paint over mahogany paneling, or a canvas drape over the Mona Lisa. Nor would we fence directly across a view of the ocean or a lovely mountain. It would evidence a total lack of sensitivity.

If the gal has "great legs," and her husband appreciates them, that should be enough for both, and she should, once in a while, stronger and less desirable the longer they are cooked.

Panning is a good way to get cabbage cooked quickly. Shred the cabbage and add it to a small amount of fat in a heavy fry pan over moderate heat. Sprinkle with salt, add water and cover pan to hold in the steam. Cook over low heat until just tender.

For variation, some homemakers suggest adding onion to the cabbage before cooking or adding bits of crumbled crisp bacon, diced ham, or grated cheese to the cooked cabbage. Sometimes, the cabbage is cooked in milk instead of the water.

Panning is also a good way to prepare snap beans, carrots, corn, spinach, and summer squash.

To save time and nutrients in cooking fresh vegetables, the home economist suggest always bring small amounts of salted water to a boil before adding vegetables and then cook until just tender.

Give your children a chance to develop a desire for cooked vegetables by making the vegetable desirable. This makes it much easier to "want" the four servings of vegetables needed daily.

There's something considerably paranoid about some of the women's lib proponents who see any reference to beauty, the body or relationships between male and female as a threat to their continued existence. And paranoia is a heck of a thing upon which to build a worthwhile case for equality.—MALE EDITOR

Dear Helen:

No doubt it is true that the expression "Right on!" came into current usage through the Black Panthers, but it is also a quotation from Shakespeare. In Julius Caesar, Act III, scene 2, Mark Antony says: "I only speak right on. I tell you that which you yourselves do know."—SALLY Right on and on!—H.

Dear Helen:
When I went shopping with my husband, I was shocked to see my brother-in-law with another woman, acting very much like her husband.

I asked my man about it and he said it's just one of those things. He was surprised I didn't know because it had been going on a long time.

What bothers me, Helen, is that this man plans to renew his marriage vows with his wife in church, just as if everything was fine between them—and they've been living as brother and sister for several years.

These relatives go camping and fishing with us. After learning this terrible secret, I don't know whether I want to go out with them any more. How should I act?—SHOCKED

Dear Shocked:
...Act "as was." Evidently these two have worked out their problems or they wouldn't still be together and apparently compatible. If you dropped them, the wife would have one less friendship when she needs all the morale-boosting she can get.—H

Television and Radio

By JERRY BUCK

AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "One of the illusions a professional actor has to give is that he is enjoying what he is doing. If he isn't enjoying it, obviously the audience will not enjoy it."

Harvey Korman, second banana on CBS's "Carol Burnett Show," says putting on a weekly comedy-variety show isn't all singing and dancing. It's also butterflies in the stomach and sometimes praying your way through a performance.

"Golf is fun. Reading is fun. Playing with your children is fun. Sex is fun. Acting is not fun," he said.

"I don't enjoy acting. It's the most difficult thing. If there's anything worse than not acting it's acting. Once I'm out there and on it's okay, but working up to it is painful."

Korman, who has that dour expression comics seem to wear off the stage, looked over and said, "Oh, God, are you taking all that down? This is going to be another negative piece. Harvey Korman is a pain in the neck. Harvey Korman wants off the Carol Burnett Show."

It appears that Korman may just be indulging in a little good-natured grouching. In his time off from the Burnett show, which is moving to Wednesdays at 8 p.m. in the fall, he is making three industrial films in Milwaukee and doing stock in Dayton, Columbus, Toledo and Warren, Ohio. He also made an ABC Movie of the Week, "Suddenly Single," with Ha! Holbrook.

He has a pilot commitment from CBS, but that does not mean he's leaving the Burnett show. "When you're in a good show, one that works, to make a move away from it is something you have to give a lot of thought to," he said.

Korman has spent his television career getting second billing on other people's shows—but he's probably the best second banana in the business. He won Emmy awards for individual achievement in 1969 and 1971.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Frank Pierson was asked to write a pilot script for James Garner's new series, "Nichols," he figured he'd take the money and run.

His script was one of several being considered for Garner's return to television and after the onetime "Maverick" star read it he drove to Pierson's home.

Pierson said, "Jim asked me to produce the show and we rode around in his high-powered car and talked about it. We agreed to do it if it was fun. So many outfits are a morass of fear and tension, and there's no reason for it to be that way."

Pierson, a lanky man with long hair and a beard the color of pewter, last produced "Have Gun Will Travel." In more recent years he has written the scripts for the movies "Cat Ballou" and "Cool Hand Luke" and wrote and directed "The Looking Glass War" in England.

A Pierson innovation is his invitation to the show's writers to visit the set and participate more closely in one production. Generally, writers are as welcome around the set as Typhoid Mary. "Writers have been made to sit at home and work in a vacuum," he said. "And if they are locked out they can't possibly know what's going on."

The better the writers understand what the producer is trying to achieve the better the scripts will be, he said. "It's an illusion of many TV producers that you can turn out 24 one-hour shows from one man's brain."

Pierson tried 18 writers for the show and narrowed the number to four. He said, "It's difficult to find a good writer for the show. It's difficult because the big writers grind the stuff out for $4,500 a script. If they don't get it right the first draft they don't have the time to do it over. None of our scripts has gone through fewer than five rewrites."

In the concept devised by Pierson for the NBC show, Garner quits the Army and winds up reluctantly as the sheriff of Nichols, Ariz., a Mexican border town named for his family. He is a rather lackadaisical sheriff, but in his own nonviolent way is effective. In the first 16 shows there is one death. Pierson said, "I think that's great."

Vallee Resigns From Committee

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rudy Vallee, the veteran entertainer who wanted the street where he lives renamed Rue de Vallee, has resigned from the city Traffic Commission because "I don't want to be humiliated and lambasted by city councilmen."

Vallee, 69, said he resigned Monday two days before the council was to consider his five-year reappointment by Mayor Sam Yorty to the policymaking body.

Several councilmen have criticized Vallee for the proposed street name change, saying it would appear to taxpayers that a member of a city commission was exerting improper influence.

Army Is Easing ROTC Training

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Faced with a dramatic drop in Reserve Officer Training Corps enrollment, the Army is easing its approach to ROTC cadet training in an effort to attract more prospective officers.

At the same time, the Army is spending $2.4 million a year on publicity to interest college men in enrolling in ROTC.

Advanced training for 3,600 cadets at the 18,000-acre Indiantown Gap Military Reservation near Harrisburg still is strenuous but the military atmosphere is relatively relaxed. The reservation draws cadets from 94 of the 279 schools with Army ROTC programs.

Drill sergeants don't ride herd on cadets. GI haircuts are seldom seen. Cadets may have their own cars, leave the base and wear civilian clothes in free periods.

"We're not hazing them," Brig. Gen. Robert Hardane, the base ROTC commander, told a group of visiting educators.

Although the Army is in the midst of the fastest troop reduction since World War II, Lt. Gen. C.E. Hutchins, commander of the 1st Army, told the educators ROTC still "is an absolute and fundamental essential" because 65 per cent of all new officers must come from its ranks.

While fear of being drafted is diminishing, a number of cadets at Indiantown Gap gave it as their reason for being in ROTC.

Explaining his presence, Bill McDaniel, a graduate student at Columbia University, said, "It's very simple. My draft number is 43." The figure makes McDaniel vulnerable to induction through the draft lottery.

Richard Elswich, a University of Kentucky law student, said he's in ROTC because of a low draft number. Because he lacked the first two years of ROTC, Elswich took basic training last summer at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Comparing Ft. Knox with Indiantown Gap, Elswich said, "You don't have a drill sergeant breathing down your back. You're given a job and have the opportunity to carry it out in your own way."

In five years, ROTC enrollments have dropped 56 per cent, from 177,000 to 78,000. Sitting in his staff car at a range where cadets are taught rifle shooting, Brig. Gen. Melvin A. Goers, director of the ROTC program, conceded, "We are concerned about the drop in enrollment and it hasn't yet stabilized."

Goers, an ROTC graduate, said it costs $58,000 to produce an officer at the U.S. Military Academy, compared with $9,800 through the ROTC program. West Point graduates about 600 officers a year while the ROTC program at its peak in 1969-70 commissioned 16,581 officers.

Coach Resigns from Bills

In pro football training camps it's usually the players who come and go. But at Buffalo's training camp Tuesday, a head coach was among the departed.

John Rauch, who coached the Buffalo's for the past two seasons, resigned unexpectedly, saying "It was a difficult decision but one that was best for me and the Bills organization."

Rauch would not say what brought about his resignation, but Buffalo owner Ralph Wilson said it was the result of a statement he had planned to make defending two former Bills' players whom Rauch had criticized.

The players involved were defensive end Ron McDole, since traded to Washington, and punter Paul Maguire, who recently retired.

Wilson named Harvey Johnson, Buffalo's player personnel director, to replace Rauch as coach. John coached the Bills for part of the 1968 season and compiled a 1-9-1 record.

Elsewhere, contract disputes continued to overshadow the in-field practices. Minnesota Viking quarterback Gary Buzza, who led his team to the Central Division title last year, said he has not signed his 1971 contract and might play out his option. "I haven't signed yet and it doesn't look as if I will sign," Buzza said.

San Diego running back Dick Post said he's prepared to play out his option unless the Chargers offer him "what a top running back is worth."

New York Giant defensive lineman Bob Lurtsema joined running back Ron Johnson as the team's first holdouts in 45 years. "Lurtsema said he didn't like the terms of his contract," a team spokesman said. Johnson is reportedly asking the Giants to double his $50,000 contract of last season.

Miami signed veteran offensive tackle Doug Crusan, leaving the Dolphins with 10 players unsigned, including star running backs Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick.

Los Angeles linebacker Doug Woodlief also announced his retirement, but because of a slow-healing knee injury, not a contract dispute.

In the day's major player transaction, Dallas dealt safety Mike Gaechter to Washington for undisclosed draft choices. Among the veterans cut were center Malcolm Walker of Green Bay, guard Pete Perquillo of the New York Jets and fullback Henry Dyer of Cincinnati.

Keeneland Sales Are at Peak

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Thoroughbred trainer Henry Forrest concluded his first venture into the buying business Tuesday by running his total to $500,000 for six yearlings at Keeneland's Summer Sale.

Forrest, who's saddled 1966 Kentucky Derby winner Kauai King, completed the coup when he bid $200,000, the second highest price ever paid at Keeneland for a yearling filly, for a daughter of Herbager being sold by Mrs. George G. Prosser of Akron, Ohio.

Forrest's total outlay topped the $673,000 spent last year by Frank McMahon, whose purchases included a $510,000 colt, and exceeded in Keeneland history only by the $986,000 spent last year by the late Charles Engelhard.

His final purchase of the two-day sale was a filly out of the Nasrullah mare, Zonah, the dam of Drumtop, winner of $448,408.

Forrest earlier had spent six-figure prices for four other yearlings and $60,000 for a fifth. The Winton Farm of Lexington, acting as agent for an unknown buyer, paid the second highest price of the final day of Keeneland's sales, with $147,000 for Tom Gentry's chestnut colt by Graustark-Deep Blue Sea.

Braves 3-1 Over Padres

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

For two nights Hank Aaron couldn't figure out what was going on out on the mound. Then he made a calculated guess.

The result was an explosive home run, a two-run shot with one out in the ninth inning that broke up a duel between Atlanta's on Reed and Dave Roberts of the San Diego Padres and powered the Braves to a 3-1 triumph.

"I was guessing fast ball," said Hammerin' Hank of Roberts' offering that wound up beyond the left field fence and brought Chief Noc-A-Homa outa his teepee for a victory dance.

The round-tripper was No. 618 of his career—still a long way behind Babe Ruth's 714—and his 26th of the season, putting him five back of major league leader Willie Stargell of Pittsburgh.

In other National League action, Pittsburgh dumped San Francisco 11-7, Philadelphia breezed by St. Louis 5-1, Cincinnati smothered Los Angeles 7-1, Houston rallied to beat Montreal 4-3 in 10 innings and, in an afternoon game, the Chicago Cubs defeated the New York Mets 4-2.

In the American League, Boston edged the Chicago White Sox 5-4, the New York Yankees slipped by Minnesota 6-5, Kansas City belted Baltimore 7-1, Washington whipped Milwaukee 5-1, California blanked Detroit 2-0 and Oakland stopped Cleveland 6-2.

Aaron, recalling the ball he parked, said it "wasn't too high—but Roberts probably wanted to get it further out. He is a hell of a pitcher."

While Roberts' record slipped to 7-10, Reed's rose to 10-7. The big right-hander limited the Padres to just three hits—but one of them was Ollie Brown's fifth homer of the year that tied the game 2-2 in the seventh.

A pair of errors by San Francisco shortstop Chris Speier opened the way to five unearned Pittsburgh runs as the Giants blew an early 4-1 lead.

Stargell and Al Oliver each knocked out three hits and Bill Mazeroski, Vic Davalillo and Manny Sanguillen had two apiece for the Bucs, who maintained their 1½ game lead atop the National League East.

Bob Veale was clobbered for five runs in four relief innings but still managed to pick up the victory, his fourth without a loss. It kept the Giants from widening their seven-game lead in the West.

Chris Short tossed a three-hitter and got more than enough support at the plate from Don Money, and rookie John Vukovich in the Phillies' victory.

Money cracked two doubles and a single and scored twice and Vukovich collected three RBI against the Cards.

Johnny Bench, returning to Cincinnati's starting lineup as a catcher for the first time since July 7, when he was injured on a foul tip, drove in a pair of runs with a single and his 19th homer of the year.

But Tommy Helms was the clutch hitter against the Dodgers, cracking a three-run double that keyed the Reds' five-run seventh inning.

Still Stoneman had a one-hitter going for 8 2-3 innings against the Astros, who then erupted for three runs to tie the score before John Boccabella singled home the winning tally in the 10th inning to top the Expos.

The Cubs withstood solo home runs by Tommie Agee and Ed Kranepool of the Mets, got a double and two singles and a pair of RBI from Billy Williams and presented Ferguson Jenkins with his 15th triumph of the season.

Sports Stars Are Naturals for Show Biz

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — Sports super stars are naturals for show business and provide the ideal means for getting important social messages across to the kids, a New York television producer said today.

"You take Joe Namath and Johnny Bench," added Doug Schustek. "They're as poised and at ease before a microphone as if they'd had ten years in a drama class or school of communications."

"They're accustomed to playing before thousands—always on stage. They're constantly being interviewed, badgered by autograph seekers and pressured for public appearances."

"They become completely immune to what we call stage fright or microphone jitters."

Schustek, former sports director of New York's Channel 9, is current producer of a weekly half-hour show called: "MVP: Johnny Bench," shown on 22 stations.

In the winter, he had a similar show called "MVP: Willis Reed," featuring the New York Knicks basketball star as moderator. He also produced the first television show for Namath, the New York Jets' quarterback.

It is his aim, he says, to expand the series to include pro football and possibly automobile racing.

"There is no better way to get to the kids today," he said. "Most of them love sports and respect the outstanding performers."

"In a couple of weeks, in fact, Bench is doing a show with Glen Campbell as guest dealing with the dope problem. Our format is to have Bench and a show personality on the panel, talking about sports and questions of the day. It's very effective."

Schustek, a young man who heads a project known as Stadium Productions, said he is amazed at Bench's composure and sophistication in the difficult medium.

"Here's a kid who is only 23, who grew up in Oklahoma, played in the minors at places such as Tampa and Buffalo and never was exposed to the big city," Schustek said. "But you'd never know it. He works without notes and shows no nerves at all."

"Now you take Namath—he came from Western Pennsylvania and went to college in Alabama, but he got a lot of national attention and had a $400,000 bonus thrown at him before he got out of school. He changed quickly—naturally."

"Namath is anti-hero to many. He appeals to the urban fans. Not Bench—he's still the boy from the country. But they're alike in one respect—they're terrific show business."

paid $131,000 during the afternoon session for a chestnut filly by Damascus-Oak Cluster, offered for sale by Westerly Stud and the Big Sink Farm of Lexington.

After dinner, Mrs. George Getty of Los Angeles, daughter in law of the famed millionaire J. Paul Getty, went to $130,000 for Barbara Hunter's grey colt by The Axe II-Ambit, a full brother to Poleax.

Westchester Classic Is Today

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Lee Trevino comes into the Westchester Golf Classic armed with brimming confidence, an undiminished thirst for victory—and seven alarm clocks.

"I was on a late TV program the night before the first round last year, talking about my chances of winning," Trevino recalled today.

"And I slept right through my tee time the next day."

He was disqualified from the $250,000 event, the richest of the season on the pro golf tour.

"That was the most expensive hour's sleep I ever had," Trevino said. "I slept away a chance to win $50,000."

"Since then people have given me a bunch of alarm clocks, seven of 'em. I'll guarantee you I'll be there on time this year."

Trevino, unprecedented winner of the U.S., Canadian and British Open titles, and PGA champ Jack Nicklaus are the co-favorites in the 72 hole event that begins Thursday on the tight little Westchester Country Club course, a 6,700 yard, par 72 layout in suburban New York.

Heavy rains Monday postponed qualifying rounds until Tuesday, and only a handful of exempt players were able to get in a practice round.

Trevino hit balls on the practice range for about an hour, then went fishing.

Trevino, who has taken five titles and is the season's leading money winner with more than $196,000, has played in 13 consecutive tournaments but said he isn't tired.

Nicklaus, back from a week's rest, is the year's No. 2 money winner despite an abbreviated schedule and is anxious to meet Trevino's challenge to his role as the world's premier performer.

Arnold Palmer, out of action for two weeks, was scheduled to arrive today as the big prize lured most of the great names of the game.

The only top players missing are Billy Casper, South African Gary Player and England's Tony Jacklin.

The contenders include Australian Bruce Crampton, the defending champion and winner of last week's Western Open, and a pair of neophyte pros—Steve Melnyk and Lanny Wadkins, the current British and American amateur champions.

Both announced their change to a professional status last week, and will be playing in their first event as pros.

TIME WAS when a ballplayer could get a lot of attention by holding a mere five baseballs in one hand, as Cincinnati pitcher Bob Purkey did here, above, when he was one of the aces of the Reds' staff in the early '60s. Now, however, Johnny Bench, also of Cincinnati, offers proof positive of progress by palming seven balls after receiving a fan letter forwarded to him by a sportswriter.

KC Downs Baltimore 7 to 1

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Ace dealer Mike Cuellar has always held the upper hand over Kansas City, but finally ran into a Royal flush.

Baltimore's star southpaw was blasted out in the third inning, his earliest kayo of the year, as the Orioles took a 7-1 drubbing from the Royals Tuesday night.

Miss Evert Continues to Win

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Jeanne Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., top-seeded in the 14-and-under division of the girls U.S. Lawn Tennis Association National Championship, continued her winning ways Tuesday.

Miss Evert defeated Elizabeth Share of Nashville, Tenn., 6-1, 6-0 in the second round of the tournament. The other seven seeded players also advanced to the third round.

Tanglewood Classic in Third Day

CLEMMONS, N.C. (AP)—The $25,000 Tanglewood International Tennis Classic went into the third round today minus two seeded players.

Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash., seeded No. 2, was forced to default Tuesday to Z. Guerry of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., because of an old back injury.

Eighth-seeded Ray Moore of South Africa was the first seeded player defeated in action. He won the first set from Bryan Gottfried of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., 6-2, but Gottfried, the third-ranked junior player, came back to take the next two sets, 6-3, 6-4.

In another upset, Jim Connors, a member of the U.S. Junior Davis Cup team, defeated Jim Osborne, 7-5, 6-2. Osborne, although unseeded in the tournament, is ranked seventh in the United States.

Top-seeded Cliff Richey easily disposed of Richard Russell of Jamaica, 6-1, 6-1, in his first action of the tournament.

Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia, seeded No. 3, defeated Pat Cramer of South Africa, 7-5, 6-3. Fourth-seeded Pierre Barthes of France managed to pull out a 6-4, 4-6, 7-6 victory over Pancho Guzman of Ecuador.

In the first round of doubles play, Bill Brown and F. D.

Robbins of the U.S. upset third-seeded Franulovic and Boro Jovanovich of Yugoslavia, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. Brown and Robbins were unseeded.

The other seeded doubles teams won their matches. The top seed, Eric Van Dillen and Richey, had a bye, with Richey replacing the ailing Gorman.

Game and Fish May Give Land

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Game and Fish Commission agreed Tuesday to donate 1,000 to 1,500 acres toward the Buffalo National River project if Congress adopts a measure to give the stream national, free-flowing status.

The commission has about 15,000 acres in the area and 1,000 to 1,500 lie within the area contemplated as part of the national river by the legislation pending in Congress.

G&F Director Andrew Hulsey said the land would be donated to the federal government with the understanding that the territory would be open to legal hunting and fishing.

On another matter, the commission adopted a position statement saying that there was little to be gained by "blatant opposition" to the Cache River-Bayou DeView drainage project. Previously, commissioners had made similar statements verbally.

The statement said, however, that the commission did not endorse the principles of channelization and drainage of the area to create more agricultural land.

The commission also endorsed the fish and wildlife mitigation requirements proposed by the U.S. Corps of Engineers in connection with the project.

In other action, the commission authorized the University of Arkansas Zoology Department to conduct a three-year study of the relationship between deer and free-running dogs. Hulsey said the study would cost about $150,000 and is aimed at producing scientific data on the effect on deer of being chased by dogs.

TWIN TERRORS

Jim Kaat and Jim Perry of the Minnesota Twins were the top two American League pitchers in lifetime wins going into the 1971 season. Kaat had recorded 156 victories, Perry 150.

Ruffner Signs With Condors

By D. BYRON YAKE
Associated Press Sports Writer
PILTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Condors of the American Basketball Association Tuesday announced the signing of Paul Ruffner of the Chicago Bulls. His one-year contract is worth a reported $40,000.

Ruffner said he still had a year remaining on a two-year contract with the NBA club, and said he signed a one-year contract with the Condors. However, that conflicted with a report from a source who asked to remain anonymous who said

Johnson Is New Coach for Buffalo

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—It was an instant replay for former Buffalo Bills executive Harvey Johnson—new head coach of the National Football League team.

Three years ago, he was yanked from the front office to take over as coach of a major league football team, as he was Tuesday night.

Johnson, recently turned 52, was tapped by owner Ralph C. Wilson Jr. to become head coach of the National Football League Buffalo Bills.

In 1968, he got a similar call when Wilson fired Joe Collier after Buffalo lost its first three games.

Johnson was chosen Tuesday to succeed John Rauch who suddenly resigned because it "will be best for me and the Bills organization."

Although Rauch declined to say why he quit, Wilson said Rauch's local television appearance July 11 in which Rauch criticized former defensive end Ron McDole and retired punter Paul Maguire appeared to be the principal reason.

On the program, Rauch asserted that McDole, since traded to the Washington Redskins, did not "meet my standards of winning" and that Maguire was "the clown of the team."

"Maguire was more interested in how to get out of work than how to play football," Rauch said on the program.

HOPE (ARK.) STAR.

Ruffner signed a two-year contract for $90,000. The source said the Bulls will pay the difference in the contract the 6-foot-11 center had with them and the one he signed with Pittsburgh, amounting to about $4,000 this year.

The move, technically, is a raid by the Condors on the NBA, a violation of merger agreements between the two leagues.

However, the Bulls have given their approval to the signing, it was learned, as partial compensation for the signing of Howard Porter.

It was Porter, the Villanova star named the Most Valuable Player in the 1971 NCAA tournament, who signed a contract with the Condors through the ABA before he was graduated from Villanova.

However, he chose to ignore that contract and signed one with the Bulls. The Condors subsequently filed suit in a New York court and showed proof of their contract with Porter before reaching settlement with the Bulls.

Ellis Says Image Can't Get Worse

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The way Jimmy Ellis sees it, his image as a fighter has got to improve because it can't get any worse.

"If I knock out Muhammad Ali, they'll probably say Joe Frazier took it all out of him." The former World Boxing Association champion said after a workout session. "The worst has already been written about me. It has to improve."

"There's got to be a time for Jimmy Ellis. And I'm going to be the better man on July 26."

Ellis, who meets Ali July 26 in the Astrodome in a 12-round fight that is taking on championship proportions, has fought a battle outside the ring throughout his heavyweight career to establish his reputation as a champion.

Ellis weighed 186 when he finished Tuesday's workout, which included only two rounds of sparring. He hopes to weigh 191 by fight time.

Hope Teams Doing Well in Finals

Both Babe Ruth teams and the Little League team seem to be on a winning streak in district tournaments being played across the state right now. The 15 year-olds downed Nashville 12-2 last night. Tonight they'll go on to play Sheridan.

Monday the 13-14 year-olds trampled Sheridan 16-3. Last night they captured the championship of District 3 by defeating Nashville 6-2.

The Little League played Smackover at Arkadelphia last night. After six innings there was no score. After a seventh inning was played, Hope claimed the game with a score of 1-0. Also last night, Prescott was downed 3-2 by Arkadelphia.

Tonight the Hope Little League will play Arkadelphia at Arkadelphia at 7:30. The winner of that game will play the winner of the Monticello tournament in Hope Friday night.

Ali had to get on the scales twice Tuesday before he'd believe he had lost five pounds, down to 216. "That's a lot of weight," he said. "You go buy a pound of hamburger meat and hold it in your hand. That's a lot of meat."

Trial Won't Be Rerun

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (AP)—The top Army defense lawyer for Capt. Ernest L. Medina says the captain's court-martial on charges of murder at My Lai will be "a whole new ball game" and not a rerun of Lt. William L. Calley Jr.'s trial.

"It will not be a rubber stamp or replay of Calley's," Capt. Mark Kadish said of his plans for Medina's trial, which starts Monday. "Many of the witnesses will be the same but the focus will be entirely different."

Medina is charged with the premeditated murder of 102 Vietnamese civilians during an infantry assault on My Lai in March 1968. Calley, one of Medina's platoon leaders in that assault, was charged with 102 murders and convicted of 22. His sentence to life in prison is being appealed.

Communists Slipping to Mekong Delta

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. intelligence reports many small Communist military units may be slipping from Cambodia into the Mekong Delta region of South Vietnam, possibly in preparation for an upsurge in enemy attacks this fall.

Communist activity in the Delta and provinces around Saigon has been at a low level since U.S. and South Vietnamese troops invaded long-time enemy sanctuaries in neighboring Cambodia last year.

Major North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units were pushed deeper into Cambodia, and U.S.-allied forces claimed to have cut off chief sources of supply and reinforcement for Communist troops still operating in the Delta.

Intelligence specialists say they have learned from enemy deserters, prisoners and other sources that many company-sized and smaller Communist units have been crossing the Cambodian border and moving into the Delta, the rice-growing area where the VC once were in virtual control.

More than 2,200 enemy soldiers are estimated to have infiltrated in recent months into the U Minh Forest, long a guerrilla stronghold in the Delta.

U.S. military analysts say the influx of enemy troops may represent an effort to replenish weakened Communist forces in southern South Vietnam.

But the analysts give considerable weight to the possibility the enemy is gearing up for offensive action against government positions and villages this fall when the rains end and the South Vietnamese prepare to vote in presidential elections the Communists would like to disrupt.

There no longer are any U.S. ground-combat units in the Delta and only a little more than a brigade of American Army fighters in the Saigon region.

On the political level the Viet Cong are reported working to strengthen their network of local cadres in the region around Saigon and in the Delta.

"Hair" Won't Come to L.R.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The governing body of the Robinson Auditorium has decided not to let the musical "Hair" be presented at the Auditorium.

Jim S. Porter Jr. of Southwest Productions Inc. had asked the Auditorium Commission to rescind an earlier decision not to permit "Hair" because of a brief nude scene and its bawdy language.

Philip E. Kaplan, Porter's attorney, urged the commission to rescind its decision, saying the commission "can't sit in censorship of legitimate theatrical productions." Kaplan pointed out that courts in other areas had held that "Hair" could be produced.

Total land area of the Virgin Islands equals no more than a sixth of Rhode Island's area.

The governor asked the cabinet members to personally inspect employee expense accounts and look into the possibility of reducing the number of state-owned cars.

Bumpers also said procedures should be established to assure reports to the proper agencies by persons who discover pollution incidents.

Bumpers met with representatives of the 13 major executive departments and the Employment Security Division for about two hours Tuesday at the mansion.

Eugene Kelley, Bumpers' executive secretary, said Bumpers stressed the need for the department heads to give their personal attention to expense accounts.

"The aim is to make sure everything is properly accounted for," Kelley said. "It's not necessarily take everybody's word for everything. Take a look at travel—be sure meetings are worth the expense involved."

Kelley said most department heads indicated they would operate with Bumpers' request that they make a special effort to reduce the number of state-owned vehicles. Kelley said one department head, who he refused to identify, indicated a substantial reduction could be made in his department.

Kelley said the suggestion that cabinet discuss the possibility of procedures for reporting pollution came from the Pollution Control Commission.

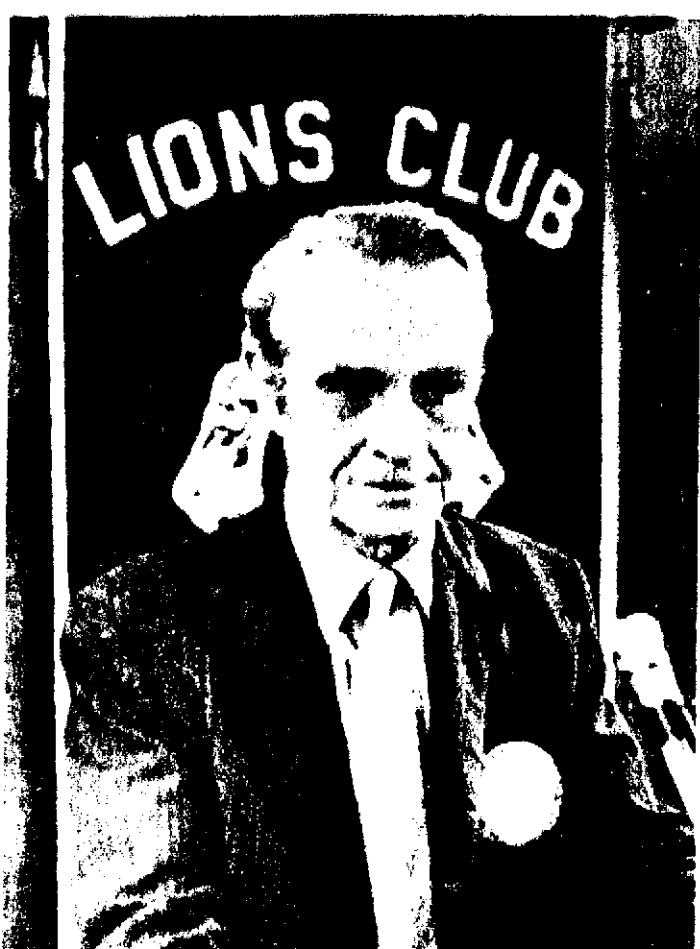

Last month, a pipeline ruptured near the Floral community (Independence County) and the spilled anhydrous ammonia into the air, damaging surrounding woods and the fish in a section of Salado Creek.

The Pollution Control Commission did not learn of the incident for several days, although some employees of other agencies were aware of the incident.

The cabinet did reach an agreement on the procedures, but Kelley said the group probably will adopt a system that would make any agency learning of an incident responsible for notifying the Pollution Control Commission. In turn, the commission would be responsible for notifying any other agency that should know about the problem.

The governor also asked the department heads to develop "tangible goals" for reorganization of the executive branch of government under legislation

In his opening remarks Mr. Ruppert said that choice of location and public attitudes are not easy to be sure of, saying that enthusiasm is always high before a school is built but is not always sustained, in Red River's case.

However, the public's interest and cooperation has been of the highest order and that the Hope area school is one of the best in the state.

DeQueen-Mena Kiwanis Club Speaker Gas Line May Be Inadequate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A consultant for the De Queen, Ark., gas system says he does not know whether the gas transmission system to nearby Mena, Ark., could accommodate the extra gas supply DeQueen has requested from Louisiana-Nevada Transit Co.

David L. Nicol, a consultant with the Washington firm of H. Zinder & Associates, made the statement Tuesday at a Federal Power Commission hearing.

De Queen has asked for an increase of more than 100 per cent in its gas supply. The firm says part of the increase would go to Mena.

Louisiana-Nevada, a gas company, has denied De Queen's request, saying it was unable to meet the increased demand.

Nicol told FPC Examiner Allen C. Lande he did not know what size pipe the Mena system used or how much extra gas the pipe could carry. "The responsibility for taking that gas was the responsibility of the Mena facility and not the De Queen system," Nicol said.

Attorneys for the gas company say there are several issues at question:

—That there is no evidence Mena would take the extra gas De Queen says it would sell it.

—That meeting the De Queen increase would mean reducing Louisiana-Nevada's gas supply to other customers.

—That meeting the demand would mean De Queen could add more customers to its system while limiting the gas company's ability to do the same.

De Queen supplies gas to Mena and Horatio and Mena, in turn, supplies gas to five other communities.

Attorneys for De Queen contend the issue is whether "human need customers should take preference over individual need customers."

They say De Queen currently receives 5 million cubic feet of gas a day from Louisiana-Nevada while the Ideal Cement Co. plant at Okay, Ark., receives 9 million cubic feet.

De Queen currently is asking the FPC to order the gas company to sell it 11.5 million cubic feet a day.

The company, in figures submitted to the state of Arkansas last year, said its peak volume was 14.4 million cubic feet a day.

It said 6 million of this amount went to the Okay terminal, 5 million to De Queen and 3.4 million to the rest of its customers.

Another 2.5 million cubic feet was lost or unaccounted for, it said.

Nicol said working papers given him by the Louisiana-Nevada Co. showed the company was able to supply more gas than this.

"They showed about 23 million a day available," he said.

Nicol was the only witness, although attorneys for both sides submitted several depositions into the record.

REV. GORDON RENSHAW

Kiwanian Gordon Renshaw was the guest speaker at Tuesday's Kiwanis Club meeting.

For the past eighteen months Kiwanian Renshaw has served as Chairman of the Kiwanis ODA (Operation Drug Alert) Committee, ODA being an active program of Kiwanis International.

Admittedly the local program has moved slowly, but it has moved surely, and from its beginning in the local Kiwanis Club the Drug Alert program is now organized county wide as CORE (Council On Drug Education).

A group of local High School students are vitally interested in the CORE program and have raised $1,000 to be used in this educational effort. With the $1,000 they have been responsible for raising and other funds that have been made available to CORE, educational materials have been secured which tell the true dope story and are geared to all age groups. Tapes, library books, magazines, brochures, comic books, films and other materials have been bought and are available for educational programs concerning the drug problem. With materials on hand the members of the CORE committee are ready to appear before any group that chooses to extend them an invitation.

At the High School level an attempt will be made to organize a Smart Teen-Smart Set Club. Their motto is SOS, Stamp Out Stupidity.

A very gripping and documented film entitled "L.S.D., Trip or Trap" was shown at Tuesday's meeting.

Former Kiwanian, Jimmy Miller of Memphis, was a guest as were Doug Drake, Treasurer of the Council On Drug Education, and Mike Huckabee one of the High School Youth Leaders in the CORE program.

Arabs Are Outraged at Hussein

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Arab chorus of outrage at Jordan's suppression of the Palestine guerrillas mounted today, but King Hussein appeared to have eliminated, for the time being at least, the commandos' threat to his throne.

Egypt endorsed Libya's call for an Arab summit meeting to support the guerrillas. Cairo announced that President Anwar Sadat was sending a personal envoy, Hassan Sabry el Kholi, to Damascus with Foreign Minister Omar Sakkaf of Saudi Arabia to confer with Syrian President Hafez Assad.

Syria, which for the past week had been trying to mediate between the guerrillas and Hussein's army, charged the Jordanians with shelling Syrian border posts. Radio Damascus said Syria would "take whatever measures are needed to support the Palestinian commando movement."

Iraq, which closed its border with Jordan early this week and ordered its ambassador home from Amman, asked Hussein to withdraw his ambassador from Baghdad.

Kuwait and Lebanon welcomed Libya's call for an Arab summit, as did guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat, directing what looked like his forces' last stand in Jordan from the Syrian border town of Deraa. The guerrilla radio in Baghdad said much more than a summit conference was needed.

"You must close the borders, ports and airports to Jordan," it told Libyan strongman Muammar Kaddafi. "You must act immediately to close Jordanian embassies and interests in the capitals."

Saudi Arabia was an exception to the angry outcries. Amman Radio said the oil kingdom had paid the Jordanian government $9.6 million Tuesday as an installment on the annual subsidy King Faisal has made to Jordan since the 1967 Middle East war.

All sizable guerrilla resistance inside Jordan appeared over. Israelis near the Israeli-

Hussein's government reacted to the mounting criticism by declaring that two agreements regulating relations between the Jordanian army and the guerrillas were still valid. Jordan had renounced them two days earlier.

Blame Put on Lockheed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Lockheed Shipbuilding & Construction Co. failed to comply with safety requirements issued the day before a water tunnel explosion killed 17 workers at Sylmar, the California Division of Industrial Safety says.

Jack F. Hatton, division chief, said in a statement Tuesday:

"The facts are that had Lockheed been in full compliance with the safety division's written requirements issued to them the day previous to that tragic accident, it would have never happened." He did not specify what the requirements were.

The statement responded to a Lockheed contention Monday that "operations were conducted in full conformity with safety regulations and instructions" of the state agency.

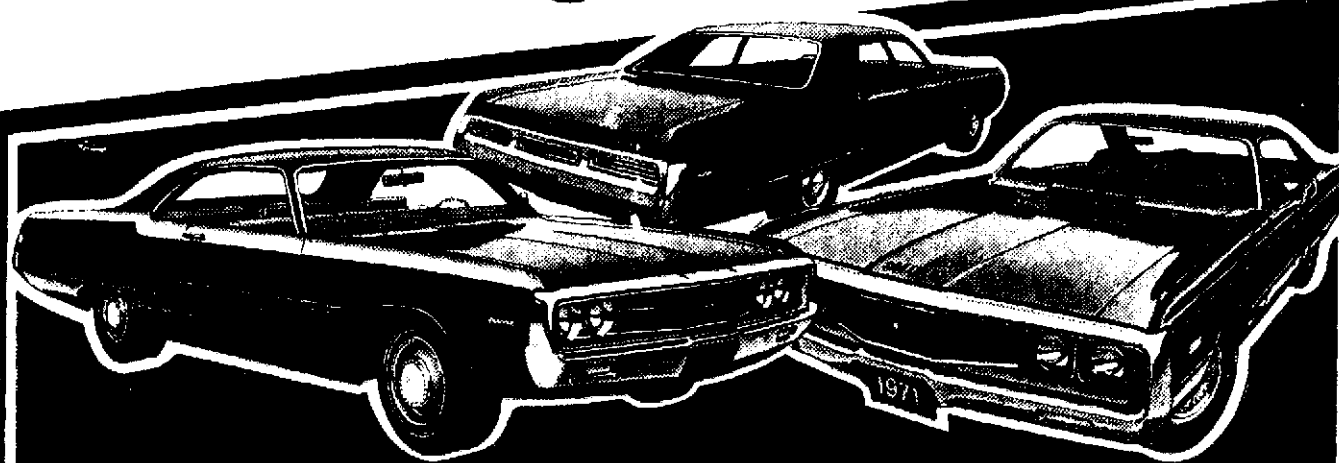

Investigators say the blast June 24 apparently occurred when the workers' machinery somehow touched off natural gas inside the tunnel. One man survived the explosion and fire.

The U.S. Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration has proposed a $10,000 fine for Lockheed because it "knowingly permitted its employees to work inside the tunnel when it contained dangerous levels of flammable gas and was improperly ventilated."

Lockheed said it intended to contest the finding but did not wish to comment specifically on the blast until a hearing before the Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Review Commission.

More Secret Documents Published

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Review has published what it says are secret government documents on Vietnam which show that the U.S. Defense department had a contingency plan for the "demonstration drop" of a nuclear device in Indochina as early as 1954.

The conservative magazine said the use of nuclear weapons was again proposed by the military in 1962 and that another document, dated Feb. 12, 1965, indicates the proposal "remained alive within the military as well as at least one section of the intelligence communities."

Titled "The Secret Papers They Didn't Publish," July 27 issue of the magazine said the documents were from far more extensive files and had not been among the Pentagon Papers in the New York Times and the Washington Post. However, the National Review did not say whether its documents were part of the Pentagon study of the Vietnam war which Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara initiated.

A statement accompanying the issue said the documents were made available "in protest against what the informant held to be distorted impressions conveyed by the documents published in The New York Times." It added that editor of the National Review, columnist William F. Buckley Jr., "is out of town and is not available for comment."

One document, said to be a memorandum from the Joint Chiefs of Staff to McNamara on Jan. 13, 1962, proposed a number of "sharply escalated measures that have been proposed and studied and for which contingency plans have long existed." They were:

—The demonstration drop of a nuclear device, followed by the use "of nuclear bombs and devices where militarily suitable" if North Vietnam failed to respond.

—The closing of Haiphong and Sihanoukville harbors and the blockade of the North Vietnamese and Cambodian coasts.

—Rapid destruction of all North Vietnamese thermal power installations.

—Destruction of the rail lines linking North Vietnam and China.

—Destruction of the Red River

er dikes and irrigation systems, thus destroying a primary North Vietnamese food source.

—Neutralization of Communist China's Hainan Island.

As a reference for the proposal to drop a warning nuclear bomb, the document cited a memorandum of May 26, 1954, from Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson titled "Studies with Respect to Possible US Action Regarding Indochina." The report said it included the recommendation "employing atomic weapons, whenever possible."

The memorandum was dated three weeks after the French defeat at Dien Bien Phu, when there were no U.S. troops in Vietnam. Later there were reports that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had offered the atomic bomb to the French for use against the forces besieging Dien Bien Phu. The late historian Bernard B. Fall, in a book in 1967 on the 56-day siege, examined these reports and conflicting evidence whether the use of atomic weapons was ever considered seriously. He concluded that Dulles did make such an offer but that French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault declined the offer because bombs would destroy the French garrison as well as the enemy.

The National Review also reprinted a telegram which it said Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific, sent to the Joint Chiefs of Staff on Feb. 12, 1965. It said Sharp's command "concurs" that there would be an increased "risk of tension" with Moscow and Peking from a "demonstration drop." The telegram added that the impact on the North Vietnamese leadership of a successful high altitude drop off Haiphong harbor "was impossible to estimate directly."

Another of the 14 documents in National Review was reported to be a handwritten summary by Secretary of State Dean Rusk of a conference on Feb. 10, 1965, that resulted in the decision not to ask Congress for a declaration of war against the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front and North Vietnam.

Clay Shaw Accepts City Post

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Clay Shaw—whom Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison unsuccessfully sought to convict in connection with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy—is accepting a post in city government here.

Shaw, acquitted in 1969 of conspiring to assassinate Kennedy, was appointed Monday by Mayor Moon Landrieu to serve on the board of directors of the French Market Corp.

The unsalaried position is being taken by a man who said he was financially ruined by the Garrison prosecution. Shaw, 57, was arrested on the conspiracy charge in 1968. A few days after his acquittal, he was charged by the district attorney with perjury in connection with his testimony in the trial.

The perjury charge remained active until May of this year when a federal judge blocked Garrison from prosecuting Shaw.

"I'm very pleased, of course," Shaw said of his appointment. "The French Quarter has many problems, I hope I can be helpful."

YOUTH BEAT

The National Report on What's Happening

Voice of Youth Grows Louder

By ERNESTINE GUGLIELMO

TURN ON THE VOLUME—The voice of young people is getting louder and harder to ignore. One of the more effective voices is that of Lawrence Hamm, 17, who is probably the youngest member of a board of education. Spokesman for the Newark Student Federation, Lawrence worked for greater student involvement in running the Newark school system. His efforts paid off when Mayor Kenneth Gibson appointed Lawrence to the nine-member board. Larry has given the voice a little more influence.

A LEGAL HIGH—Perry Lord of Wazahochie, Tex., writes: "Recently I heard on the radio that the two biggest forces on the rock scene were Paul McCartney's alleged death and the banana high. What's the banana high?"

Well, Perry, you scrape off the insides of banana peels, bake them in an oven, then roll the baked glob and smoke it. It's legal and it doesn't do a thing.

WRAPPING IT UP—All too often the young people who make their communities a better place to live in don't get the credit they deserve. So to keep the outlook positive, Youthbeat announces Jeff Nolle of Orlando, Calif., as the grand prize winner of the NEA/Caravelle Take Time to Get Involved Contest. Jeff helped collect food baskets for the needy, worked at a day nursery, worked with the March of Dimes and was active in a youth help youth tutoring program.

We'll be sending Jeff an Accutron watch because he was not only sensitive to the needs of others, but went out of his way to help these people.

STRIVING FOR A LIFE STYLE—A young man in Chicago complained that he couldn't get a job because of his long hair and somewhat funky appearance. He balked at the idea that the business world was so structured as not to allow anyone into its realm who didn't wear the uniform. He was always proud to be part of what he considered the youth revolution which rejected such superficial criteria for judgment.

"Young people," he said, "don't care what you wear or how you look. What's important is how your head works."

However, according to the laws of survival, he eventually donned a look that was more appealing to the business world. Eating well and relatively content, he continued in his former life style. Shortly after his change of face he walked along Buck House Square which he frequently visited.

Things had changed. Suddenly the young people weren't as receptive to him. He was made to feel out of place. He never realized all his friends dressed, talked and thought alike. He never realized young people, rejecting an entire system because it was confusing, sometimes establish their own system where the rules are unfortunately stricter than society's.

Senate Prohibits Use of Funds

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to prohibit the Subversive Activities Control Board from using any funds for following President Nixon's directive to update a list of subversive organizations.

Opponents called the executive order a challenge to the authority of Congress.

A move to cut off appropriations for the five-member board, created by the 1950 Internal Security Act, was rejected Monday. Instead, the Senate voted to increase the appropriation to $450,000, compared with $410,000 last year.

The SABC dispute highlighted action on a $4.1-billion appropriation bill for the State, Justice and Commerce departments, the federal judiciary and related agencies.

Before passing the bill, 88 to 0, the Senate increased funds for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to the full $27.8 million Nixon requested. The House had voted only $22 million.

The bill now goes to a Senate-House conference committee for adjustment of differences.

An amendment by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to knock out the SABC appropriation was rejected 47 to 40.

Then the Senate adopted, 51 to 37, an amendment by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., barring the board from using any funds to carry out Nixon's July 2 order.

Designed to breathe new life into the board, the President's order directed SABC to take over the attorney general's job of identifying and listing organizations that seek violent overthrow of the government or violent interference with the rights of others.

Ervin said the order set new and vague standards of what is subversive, threatening 1st Amendment rights to freedom of speech and assembly.

"The time is right here now for Congress to decide whether to reclaim its legislative power or abdicate it to the president," Ervin said.

Nixon's order followed criticism the board has nothing to do since Supreme Court decisions undercut its original mandate to identify and require registration of Communists and Communist-front organizations.

SO YOU WANT TO BE

By ERNIE HOOD

Judy DeM., Milford, Mass., writes: "I would like to know any information you can give me in the field of working with retarded children."

Dear Judy: There's tremendous personal gratification in this field, helping the unfortunate: men and women of all ages as well as children. I'm also happy to report there are excellent career opportunities for social workers and rehabilitation counselors.

Social workers in rehabilitation services assist emotionally or physically disabled persons in adjusting to the demands of everyday living. As part of a rehabilitation team, which usually includes physical or occupational therapists, these social workers serve as a link in the community while the patients are in the hospital. Later, they help them adjust to home and community life.

Employment opportunities for social workers are expected to be excellent all through the 1970s. Despite the anticipated increase in the number of graduates of master's degree programs in social work, the demand for these highly trained social workers is expected to exceed the supply. The outlook for those with bachelor's degrees in social welfare or related fields will continue to be very good as well. Qualified and experienced women who wish to work part time should have excellent job prospects. Regarding education, more than 60 graduate schools of social work in the United States are accredited by the South can count nine winners with no trouble. Where is the 10th to come from? If he has time, he can lead diamonds and eventually ruff a diamond in dummy. Without a trump lead, he would have had time. If trumps are 2-2, he will get that ruff in, but South has a feeling trumps will break 3-1.

Where else can he get that 10th trick? Dummy has five clubs. Can he set up dummy's fifth club? If clubs break 4-3 and he can get to dummy three times, everything will work out nicely, but there are only two sure entries. South decides to give himself every chance.

He wins the trump lead with the eight, cashes his king of clubs and plays a low diamond. West is on lead with the nine-spot and finds that there is nothing he can do.

If he leads his six of trumps, dummy's nine will hold the trick and South will have that extra entry to dummy. South will abandon diamonds and simply ruff a club, enter dummy with the trump ace, ruff another club, enter dummy with the heart ace and discard two of his four remaining losers on the ace and 10 of clubs.

If West decides to lead a heart, South wins immediately in dummy and plays a second diamond. Now he is able to ruff a diamond and get his 10th trick that way.

Mrs. O. N., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "I would like to know the career opportunities in hotel-motel management."

Dear Mrs. O. N.: Well-qualified people will find favorable opportunities through the 1970s in the hotel-motel management field, especially in entry positions with the opportunity to move ahead. Those with college degrees in hotel administration will have an advantage.

The number of hotel managers is expected to increase moderately during the next decade and openings also will result from the need to fill vacancies through turnover. New positions will accompany the increasing number of new hotels and motels. You may also be interested in the fact that most hotels promote from within, and that individuals with proven ability in front-office jobs are often promoted to assistant manager roles and eventually to general manager.

U.S. Labor Department Bulletins are sources of in-depth information on career fields. They can be obtained by writing the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. For social worker, ask for Bulletin 1650-45, priced at 10 cents; and for hotel-motel manager, ask for Bulletin 1650-128, priced at 15 cents.

If you have a question about another career field, write to SO YOU WANT TO BE in care of Newspaper Enterprise Association, Suite 410, 230 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Dr. Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Is breast cancer only seen in the form of a knot on the surface of the breast? I can feel knots on the inside of my breasts, but never on the surface. Please tell me if this is a symptom. I am sure that if you answer this letter in your column many people would either be relieved or encouraged to see a doctor.

Dear Reader—I hope they will be encouraged to see their doctors. There is absolutely no way you can tell yourself if a lump, knot or cyst of the breast, within the tissues or near the surface, is cancer or not. What a terrible mistake it is for a woman to ignore any of these and hope it is something else besides cancer. It is true that not all of them are, but the stakes are too high and only a person trained in examining such problems can really resolve the problem.

Not infrequently the knot or lump MUST be excised and examined under a microscope to find out what it is. Early diagnosis and treatment often spells the difference between life and death. Another point: While it is a good idea for a woman to examine her own breasts regularly, lumps can and are missed. Self-examination does not replace a regular examination by a doctor. I have said this before and will repeat it again—ALL LUMPS, MASSES, CYSTS, KNOTS OR SIMILAR THINGS ANYWHERE IN OR ON THE BODY MUST BE EXAMINED BY A DOCTOR BEFORE A CORRECT DIAGNOSIS CAN BE MADE. IT IS NOT A DO IT YOURSELF PROJECT.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Will you please tell me the difference between a polyp and a mastoid of the ear if any? What is a polyp and what is a mastoid?

Dear Reader—A polyp is a small growth or protrusion of the lining of some part of the body. A wartlike projection of the lining of the colon is a polyp of the colon. A similar projection of the lining of the sinuses is a sinus polyp. Many of these are without significance. Those in the nose often occur with nasal allergies. There is some concern that those in the colon are associated with a higher incidence of cancer of the colon.

The mastoid is a normal part of everyone's body. It is the bony projection just behind the ear. There are special cells within the center of the bony structure and before the days of good antibiotics these often became infected. To remove the infection the mastoid would be operated upon and often removed, leaving a gash behind the ear. Such an operation is called a mastoidectomy. They are seldom needed today.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The first gun shot at Ft. Sumter, S.C., was fired by Edmund Ruffin, a 75-year-old Virginian, on April 12, 1861. The World Almanac recalls that Abner Doubleday fired the first shot from Ft. Sumter in its defense. Doubleday became a general during the Civil War, and is said to have originated the game of baseball in 1839.
